The announcement that was recently made to the effect that the EMPRESS DOWAGER desirability of removing some of the distinctive marks which have singled out those of Manchu birth from the Chinese, would appear at first sight to be encouraging as indicating a desire to remove at least one of the most obvious causes of discontent in China, the feeling, namely, that the country is governed by a foreign Dynasty. The dea seems to have been seized that the time has come for something of rapprochements between the Manchu and the Chinese races; and that the Imperial Dynasty is not in reality strengthened by making it an entirely exclusive caste. Among other things it was stated that the notion has been mooted of making the daughters of some of the higher class Chinese eligible for marriage into the Imperial family-a etep which would certainly be an amount of liberalism on the part of the Chinese which would be ahead of what is found in some of the most advanced monarchies in Europe. This particular idea seems so contrary to $2,400.

the statement must be accepted with great reservation. At the same time this is not a sufficient reason for concluding that the other parts of the reported discussion may not have taken place as stated, or that, in one form or another, the desirability of doing away with the privileges and outward distinctions, which mark off the Manchus from the Chinese, has not taken place. The subject at all events must have been pressed upon imperial consideration with much force by recent events. There can be no question that the necessity for some kind of reform is at last being felt at head quarters, and that it is recognised that some changes must be introduced to bring the system of government more in harmony with the wishes of the people. An anti-dynastic cry has always been strong weapon in the hands of all revolutionary parties in China; and anything which will detract from the force of this means of exciting rebellion would be clearly an advantage, provided that the sacredness of the Imperial rule in the popular eye can still be preserved. This, at all events, is probably beginning to be recognised, but it is another question whether it will be mouth. possible to carry it out, seeing the strong class influence that will be brought to bear against any reform in this direction. position in fact is very much the same as that of the Tear of Russia in respect to privileges of the Grand Dukes and higher disposed the Tsar himself may be, he met with a dead weight of opposition on the part of those whose privileges may be interfered with. What has always occurred in such cases in Europe, may be taken as certain to arise in China, as human nature in these respects is the same all over the world. At the same time there is reason to hope from many indications there have been of late, that the old ideas of Imperial exclusiveness have become materfally modified; and if this course be carefully adbered to, an important step will have been taken towards modifying and ultimately doing away with the standing discontent which has proved the source of so much trouble in the Celestial Empire. The idea of excluding the Emperonalmost, if not entirely, from popular views has become at least to some degrees modified, probably from seeing that a different course in Japan does not detract from the reverence with which the people at large regard the Mikado; and, if such a change is introduced in China at head quarters it will no doubt be imitated by the viceroys and other officials in the provinces, and much will be of the Netherlands has been to allow merchant done to do away with the feeling that there is an impossible gulf between the commonalty and the governing and upper classes, and the way to reform in a political direction will be greatly facilitated by such an advance in social relations. How far the discussions on the subject, as reported, are an accurate statement of what has occurred, is of course open to some question, but it may be safely concluded that the subject has been mooted in some form at head quarters, and this is, in itself, an encouraging feature Time was when the idea of the governing classes yielding of their own motion even in the smallest degree, to the wishes of the profane vulgar, would be scouted at head

Before Mr. C. D. Melbourne at the Police Court yesterday, four coolies who stowed away on the s.s. "Powan" at Canton were fined $10 spiece, with the alternative of fifteen days' imprisonment.

A case of death by electrocution coonred at Mr. R. Shewan's residence at the Peak on Friday. It appears that special light fitting s had been installed at "Inverugie" for an evening which was held some nights ago, and the lighting was done from the basement of the house. A chair coolie who was entering this part stumbled, fell against a live wire and had taken advice of her Counsellers as to the was instantly killed. He was found to be severely burned, and was removed to the mortuary by Detective-Sergeant Murison.

Another charge had been preferred against three of the five defendants whose shop in Hollywood Road was visited by Detective-Sergeant Sullivan early this week. It will be remembered that these men were charged with carrying on extensive frauds in the company promoting line. Yesterday, before Mr. Molbourne the first three were charged with obtain . ing another $8000 by false pretences, and the case was remanded.

"Bedford" for their excellent Band, and the public in general for their very liberal and highly appreciated patronage. The Bazzar realized, after paying all the expenses, about the general trend of Chinese thought, that The American Consulate General received the telegram quoted below from the Manile Observatory at 2 p.m. yesterday :- "November 15, 1907, at 12.10 p.m. Typhoon now about 17 latitude and 132 or 133 longitude probably inclining northward."

> annohed the oil barge Navahoe for the Applo-American Oil Company. She has six masts, is 450 feet long, with 58 feet beam, and 8,000 tons register, and will carry over ten thousand is being finished for the same company.

In connection with the projected enlargement of the North Sea and Baltic Canal, next spring, the German Admiralty has decided to build a harbour for torpedo-boats in the lowlying region of Lake Kuden, near Taterpfahl. Rendsburg, in Holstein. From such a harbour the torpedo fletillas would be able to gain either the North Sea or the Baltio without having to sall through the Kattegat,

Russia is beginning to display greater activity in the Far East. The latest rumour in that respect is that the Minister of Marine has just laid before the Council for National Defence an extremely important project for establishing a Governmentahipbuilding-yard in the Far East. It is believed that the port to be selected will be Nikolaieffsk, on the northern bank of the Amur River, and 25 miles from its Judged by the present outlook, "Forethought," in the South Wales Daily News, suggests that 1908 will see a large reduction in shipbuilding, but even the most sanguine, after the experience of the last few years, would hardly predict a reduction of more than 500,000. tons in the ships built, as compared with the nobility in that country. However liberally figures of 1907. A reduction of 500,000 tons would still mean an increase in the world's tonnage of about 1,250,000 for the year, and it is questionable whether, at a time that is admitted to be the top of the present trade boom, sufficient extra oversea freight can be squeezed out to keep this tonnage fully employed.

The Hon. Dr. Charles Hose, who has been connected with the Sarawak Civil Service for 23 years and for the past three years has occupied the position of Divisional Resident has retired on pension. Dr. Hose, in addition to performing much useful official work, is well known in the East as a Naturalist and Ethnologist. He has made large collections of the flora and fanns of Sarawak and explored the mountainous districts in the far interior of the Baram District. He has presented to the British and other mussums collections mammals, birds, insects, shells, and every kind of animal found in the country. For his services to science he has received severa foreign decorations, as well as the highest honour that can be conferred by Cambridge University, that of Honorary Doctor Science.

Some surprise has been expressed that the Dutch Parliament should have shown a willingness to vote money in favour of one of the national steamship line. In general the policy shipping to depend upon its own resources. The present situation is, however, unprecedented German shipping has so rapidly developed, and as if they were German, that some of the high appreciation of the courteous manner is rivalry of its four powerful German competitors. that practically it commits the Government to petition of foreign rivals.

A very interesting ceremony was performed often ice-bound in the winter. on November 14th on the stage in the large hall at Kowloon Dock, in connection with the drama "Roy-Roy" produced there some time ago, Mr. Graham, Acting Manager, and Hon. Vice President of the Kowleon Dock A. D. C. presented the juvenile members of the A. D. with gold brooches and scarf pins as a token of appreciation of the manner in which they had acquitted themselves in the play at Kowloon Dock. Mr. Graham said that so far as their efforts were concerned he was more than satisfied and trusted that in the future whenever they Japanese in Korea but they are undoubtedly attempted any part in theatricals that they would acquit themselves in the same creditable made for the occasion, and are in the form of the emblem of Scotland surrounded with the oak "He's a jolly good fellow." It may be said here that, although Mr. Graham has not taken any active part in the play, he has shown an

Mr. Bax-Ironside, the new British Minister at Santiago, entered the Foreign Office at the age of twenty-four, and was for some time private scoretary to Sir William White. In that year Mr. Bax-Ironside married the daughter of the Master of the Horse at the Swedish Court.

How will the installation of the Marconi tons of oil in bulk. A twin barge, the Iroqueis, wireless system affect submarine telegraphy? The Daity Telegraph, replying to its own question, says :- One answer alone can perhaps be made at this moment with certainty; it will increase the number of messages between the two hemispheres. There are now fifteen cables laid on the floor of the Atlantic, and they represent a capital of over £20,000,000. They have been sending words up to fifty a minute (of five letters each, average), and by Messra. Muirhead's system they can work "duplex"that is to say, send messages in both directions at the same moment. We do not believe they are nearly worked to their full capacity. If rates are lower, the demand will be greatergreater to an extent none of us have realised, The continents are now not so many thousand miles, but so many seconds, apart.

"CHOYSING-VERONA" COLLISION.

Judgment has been given in this case by the Hamburg Marine Court in favour of the THE BERESFORD-SCOTT INCIDENT Verona," the captain of the "Choyning" being held entirely to blame for the collision.

A HAMBURG FIRM FAILURE.

Our Hamburg correspondent writes on October 18th :- I regret to have to announce the anspension of payment of Messrs. Haller Sohle & Co., one of the oldest and most important firms of merchants and bankers of this town. It was wholly unexpected and caused general consternation on' change yesterday. The liabilities are variously estimated at from 20 to 30 million Marks of which 15 millions due on acceptances; nothing reliable is however known as yet, either concerning the liabilities or the assets, nor have the causes of the difficulties been stated.

The firm, founded in 1797 by Mr. J. M. Haller, safely weathered the storms of the Napoleonic times and continued to prosper and expand until it had attained a position in the morcantile world equalled by few in this city. The style of the firm was changed into that of Haller, Söble & Co. in 1830 when old Mr. Haller admitted his-son-in law, Mr. Eöhle, into partnership. In 1834 his son Mr. J. E. Haller entered the firm. The present partners are Dr. J. C. Föhle, a great grandson of the founder and Mr. Oscar Lübbers. The head of the house died two years ago, since when, it is stated, the firm has carried on extensive speculations in real estate and has also been concerned in industrial undertakings. Acceptances to the value of £750,000 are said to be out, and the liabilities are estimated at from £600,0 0 to £1,250,000;

LEAGUE CRICKET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE " HONGKONG DATLY PERSE.

SIR-May I take the liberty of expressing. as come to look upon Dutch ports so much as through the medium of your valuable paper, my Notherlands steamship lipes have had hard work | which the Civil Service Cricket Club has allowed to hold their own. The advance now proposed their match with the Police to be postponed. It breaks of sensationalism in the Russian Press to be made to the Dutch line running between is quite obvious that if the former Club had Amsterdam and Argentina and Brazil is con- cared to adopt the methods of one of their fellow fessedly intended to assist it in meeting the competitors, whose name I will not mention, they would undoubtedly have gained an easy The importance of the decision lies in the fact victory, or by refusing to postpone the match have secured a point for a "walk over." The come to the aid of any steamship line which latter event would have been most probable can prove that it is unduly pressed by the com- as the greater part of the Police team will be giving their support to Edwards at the Interport match to-day, Saturday.

JAPAN AND EASTERN SIBERIA.

ALLEGED WARLINE DESIGNS.

The Times St. Petersburg correspondent writes on October 17 :-concerning affairs in the Far East. Hitherto they have concerned a prospective war by the United States against Japan and a reputed Russo-American agreement for the exchange of coaling stations at Vladivostok and Manila. These rumours are traceable in many instances to the fertile inventiveness of German organs like the Ostasiatischer Lloyd. The latest development points to nothing less than bellicose designs by Japan against Eastern Siberia. The Puss printed a letter from an irresponsible traveller in Japan dwelling at great length on the warlike preparations visible on every side. To-day the Russ publishes a leading article in which it concludes that the preparations can only be directed against Russia. The Radical organ does not even entertain the plausible hypothesis that Japan may be simply taking measures to assure her own safety. The fact that the Japanese horse artiflery has been strengthened is taken as convincing evidence that Eastern Siberia is the objective. The Russ thereupon sets about to discover means of warding off the expected blow. The best remedy, it thinks, would be to convert the Anglo-Russian Agreement into an alliance, but it doubts if even this would be effective, owing to certain exigencies of British naval policy. If, for instance, Germany concluded a temporary alliance with the United States, England could not spare enough battleships for a demonstratio: against Japan (sic). The Russ is of opinion that America would be relieved of the Japanese menace if Japan were with Russia, while, on the other hand, Germany's ends would be served if Japan again attacked Russia. Thus it would be in the interest of Germany that the United States should hold England in check while Japan and Russis were again involved in an exhausting

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

Friday, November 15th.

BEFORE MR A. G. WISH (ACTING CHIEF

In the matter of Iu Kai shing, alias In Chan, and in the matter of the Chinese Extradition Ordinance, 1889.

Hir Henry Berkeley, K.C., instructed by Mr. Otto Kong Sing, applied for a writ of habeas corpus for the delivery up of the body of In Kai-shing who was committed to jail on charge of armed robbery in China, pending the decision of H.E. the Governor regarding his surrender. The Hon. Mr. W. Rees Davies, Attorney General, instructed by Mr. G. Morrell from the Crown Solicitor's Office, appeared to oppose the application.

The Attorney-General informed the Cour that he was present under a rule nisi granted by his Lordship calling upon the Superintendent of Victoria Jail to show cause why he should not bring up the body of In Kai shing under a writ of habeas corpus. The proceedings were instituted under the Chinese Extradition Ordinance, 1889, and in accordance with the usual procedure here in matters of extradition. The Attorney General read section four of Ordinance 7 of 1889, and said the charge against this man was one of robbery with violence in the Chingse dominion, and the defence set up before the Magistrate was twofold. First of all evidence was called to establish an alibi, and the second contention raised by Sir Henry Berkeley was that the offence with which the Chinese Government really sought to charge the prisoner was one of political character, and consequently the fugitive could not be surrendered under the subsection to which the Attorney-General has just referred The facts of the case were fully set out in the exhaustive judgment of the learned magistrate. Sir Henry Berkeley-Not fully set out.

The Attorney-General, proceeding, said he was present to sustain that judgment. He understood his learned friend was going to raise a further point which did not appear to have been dealt with before the magistrate : that was there was no evidence that the Chinese Government had given an engagement, and that in the absence of such engagement there was no jurisdiction to commit or to retain the fugitive. With regard to that, that point was definitely dealt with by the learned Chief Justice in the case of Wong-Ka-Chaen which was decided before your Lordships in July 1906. He contended in any event, that the engagement referred to, which was a condition precedent to the surrender, could only possibly be given after the point had been dealt with in the Court here. Although the course of procedure required the Crown in this case to show cause, as to had already said his position was to sustain the judgment of the learned magistrate, and that being so he thought it would be convenient if Sir Henry Berkeley would proceded with his argument. Sir Henry Berkeley said the Attorney General only declared generally that he supported the magistrate's decision, but so far no cause had been shown. He thought is convenient to adopt the course proposed, and he would place before his Lordship the reasons which he submitted should induce, and indeed compel the Court to order the discharge of the prisoner, who was now detained on the committal order of the magistrate. Connect proposed to give his I ordship shortly the history of the case and the facts which led to the arrest of the fugitive, and his subsequent committal to await the order of the Governor to be surrendered to the Chigese Government. The first material fact was that in May of this year there was a rising in the Swatow district of the people there against the local administration of the province. That was a fact which Counsel desired his Lordship to bear in mind, as it was part of the basis of the argument which he intended to address to his Lordship. In May, theo, there was a rising against the local Government, and during that rising a town called Wongkong was captured by the insurgents, certain arms, ammunition and warlike stores were taken from the officia yamen by the rebels. What might be regarded in ordinary circums ances as an act of armed robbery was on that occasion committed. The rebels seized the yamen and took away Government weapons, etc. The next important fact was that among those who were leading the rebels on that occasion was the fugitive before the Court, That fact was abundantly established on the evidence before the magistrate. These facts were all important the rising, the political disturbance, the revolt against the local Government of the provinceand the fact that the prisoner was one of the leaders of that political disturbance. The rising failed for reasons not necessary or materical to discuss, the insurgents were dispersed, and the leaders fled. The next material fact to which Counsel desired his Lordship's most attention was that on June 20th the authorities offered a reward or the capture of the leaders of this rising. They offered $2000, he thought, for certain of the leaders, and they offered $1000, for, smong others, the fugitive before the Court. They had it then, that on June 20th there was reward published in the neighbourhood for $1000 for the capture of the prisoner. Now, in what capacity did they offer $1000 for his capture? On June 20th the possession of his body was sought for by the Government Authorities as a leader of rebels, and that only. On June 24th the fugitive was discovered to be in Hongkong, and on that day a requisition was made to the authorities at Hongkong for his apprehension on the charge of armed robbery, and he was apprehended on that day. Counsel pointed out that on the warrant there was no statement of the time, the place or the person, or when or where the robbery was committed, or who was affected by it. There was no statement in that warrant that the fugitive committed the armed robbery at Pingchow as was a long time afterwards alleged. There was no statement on the warrant of any particular person. An open warrant was issued upon which the fugitive was arrested on a charge of armed robbery within the jurisdiction of China. may that this was the instance in which a warrant had been so issued; he did not say that there was any departing from custom in the issuing of this warrant. What he did point out to his Lordship, and what would be obvious to any person on reflection, was that on such open warrant it was possible to put in any time, place and subject subsequently. Such a warrant would not be tolerated for a moment against a British subject in a British Court. What magistrate would issue a warrent of such a neture, and what Court would convict a man upon such a charge, if no evidence was brought as to where and when the robbery was committed ontil weeks and weeks had elapsed when every possible opportunity was given persons tempted by the reward to come forward and make false allegations against the accused? At the very outset

Counsel submitted that they should approach would use no stronger word -as to whether or not a grave mistake had not been made in alleging that this man, a man of high character & standing; was guilty of the charge laid against him. They could not approach the case but with a doubt that the Chinese Government had been deceived by witnesses tempted by the reward, who came forward weeks afterwards to fill in the blanks left on an open warrant. It was not, his Lordship would see by the evidence, until July 16th that the two witnesses came to Hongkong from Swatow to prove the case against the fugitive, as having been one of the leaders of a band of armed robbers who, on April 16th, attacked a house in Pingchow and robbed a man. The question at once suggested itself to anyone-Why this delay? Why, if the Chinese Government knew on June 24th that the prisoner was the man who committed the robbery, did they not say so before April 16t ! Why, having reward to the fact that Swatow Is within a few hours' steam of Hong kong, the delay? The only legitimate inference, to any man capable of inductive reasoning, was that the armed robbery the Chinese Authorities had in their minds when the man was arrested on June 24th was the robbery of arms and ammunition from the Yamen at Wengkong. It was that they had on their minds; it was that they intended to bring forward against him, but doubtless the authorities on reflection, or on being advised, found that the extradition laws would not permit a man to be surrendered if the offence of armed robbery charged against him was incidental to a rising. The case of Castionni was decisive on that point The case was a rising in one of the Cantons of the Swiss Republic against the local administration, and in the course of that rising a deliberate act of homicide was committed which appeared a somewhat unnecessary act. The extradition of Cas ionni was sought, but which are also Cantonese. was refused on the grounds that the killing of a burgomaster was one of the incidents in the rising, and the offence came under the category of that or a political character. That was what would have been set up here, if the evidence brought by the Chinese Government to endeavour to obtain the rendition of this leader, had been to the effect that he led the people to commit a robberv of arms and ammunition from the yamen. Counsel put it to the Court that the authorities in China ecame subjects of a deception on the part. of witnesses from Pingohow, and he further put it that these witnesses were tempted, in hope of getting $1000 reward, to come forward and relieve the Government of their difficulty by saying that they knew this man He was one of fourteen people who at the dead of night went into a house at Pingchow some three or four mon he ago and committed an armed robbery, and these witnesses were prepared to come to Hongkong and pick him out. probably said to themselves-" We will have no difficulty; there are already people in Hongkong who know him, and he has been arrested." These two people came to Hongkong, and in due course they appeared before the magistrate. What did they say? They told their story about an armed robbery at midnight on April 16th. One of them, he put it to the Court, slightly exceeded his instructions, and in doing so gave them an index to the whole of his conduct. Not only did he say that the fugitive committed armed robbery, but he said he committed murder. This man, he said, when he led his gang into the house after he had finished robbing the inhabitants, happened to hear his name mentioned by the master and brutally shot and killed him. This witness absolutely said that he told that fact to the Chinese authorities on the night of 16th April. was evidence to show that Iu Kai-Shing was for years a merchant in the Straits Settlements, and he was a man of standing at Johore and the Straits. The presumption was therefore in his favour; it was an dankely thing that this man was the leader of a gang of robbers. The offence which he admitted was that which any man of high character might be guilty of-the political offence of a reformer. He put it to the Court that this man came before the magistrate with a presumption in his favour which the magistrate had unfairly disregarded. Was such a man, who for years had been a merchant, to be held capable of being an armed robber upon the testimony of such witnesses as appeared before the Police Court? The other witness was an old, semi-blind woman, who might very well believe every word she said, and who naturally, after her husband had been robbed and killed, was anxious that the person who robbed and killed him should be punished; who came with her mind prejudiced at every point, and who could be coached and laught enally by the male witness. The case entirely turned on the evidence of this so called teacher who was alleged to be a yamen runner, and if he in the course of his cross-examination either discredited himself entirely or beamudged himself, then the Court ought not to take the ster which was practically sending the fagitive to his death. The Court ought not to send the prisoner back to China except on evidence of a trustworthy character. The witness was unworthy of credit after deliberately and boldly denying in Court that he had used Mandarin words. On the ground of these facts the prisoner ought to be discharged, because he produced before the magistrate what two witnesses to prove that at the time he was on April 16th he was in Hongkong, and the account he himself gave on cath, and that of the witnesses he called, was consistent with reason

A CLERGYMAN.

Nervous Debility, Influenza, Depression, Nervous Headache—

Most people have desired to know beforehand for certain what will be the result of an undertaking. Imagine the saving in time and money if we could foresee what would happen! How readers may actually realise the wish is divulged by a clergyman, who writes to us and makes it clear that anyone can confidently foretell accurately and without a shadow of doubt, the beneficial results which follow a course of Phosferine. The Rev. John W. Clayton says that when his nervous energy was at a very low ebb, and he had lost interest in everything owing to nervous debility and influenza, Phosferine enabled him to recover his vitality immediately. The mere fact of a popular clergyman expressing such complete confidence in the curative properties of the famous tonic is a convincing proof that Phosferine may be absolutely relied upon to remedy and prevent those nervous disorders for which it is a specific. The Reverend gentleman's opinion is strongly supported by a host of doctors and nurses who warmly urge the use of Phosterine, which, in addition, has the distinction of being supplied to nearly every royal family in Europe -a fact that is in itself a guarantee of exceptional efficacy.

Stopped and done with at once.

The Rev. John W. Clayton, 20, Alexandra Terrace, Haslingden, Lancs. writes; "I have been for a long time a user of your Phosferine, and even this winter was saved from an attack of nervous debility by its use. I have for many years been subject to Influenza in the early spring and have found the attacks moderated and a great deal of depression and nervous after effects kept away by using Phosferine. This last winter I have had a specially hard time and my nervous energy got at a very low ebb. I lost interest in everything, and when I found I could go on no longer I began with the Phosferine and was struck with the rapid way in which I recovered. I find it a very useful pick-me-up tonic and we keep it constantly in the house My wife has also used it for a peculiar nervous headache which she occasionally has. The headache ceases at once and in a short time disappears. This much I can say of your remedy without saying a single word that even approaches exaggeration."-July 24, 1904

OPIUM AND EXAGGERATION.

The compaign against opium smoking has, been well launched, and if foreign sympathisers are careful not to "force the pace" in a manner wholly alien to the Chinese temperament, there is some prespect that the evil will gradually be removed. Unfortunately, however, there is a tendency among opium-abolitionists to indulge in a vast amount of rhetoric which is by no means calculated to promote the cause they have esponsoi. No good purpose can be served, instance, in encouraging Chinese to believe, that "there is little hope of the entire prohibition of opium until the foreigners in Shanghai close their dens," as the President of the Auti-Opium League appears to have done, if we may judge from his letter published in our columns on Saturday. It is perfectly true that so long as opium is smoked somewhere, it will not have ocen entirely prohibited, and we are tempted to be-lieve that Dr. Du Bose's shrewd interlocutor had this profound thought in mind when h delivered his dictum regarding Shanghai, There is no ground, otherwise, for such a statement, for the influence of this Settlement in such a matter on any portion of the Empire one hundred miles away is nil. It has been left however, to a speaker at the Y. M. C. A recently to cap the policy of exaggeration with most glaring misstatement. After delivering an eulogy on the "sweeping reforms" introduced in the native city the speaker laid great stress on the "more than 20,000 op um dens" in this Settlement, and quoted the Municipal Annual Report as his authority for his figures. It is true that the reference to opium-houses in the Report is not as lucid as it might be; but it requires little thought to discover that in a town of 45,786 native houses there are not likely to be 29,341 opium dens. The facts of the case are that during 1906 there were 20,341 monthly opium licences issued, and the average number of opium-houses in this Settlement during that year would work out at ber, while last month the opium-houses numbered only 1472. We have little sympathy with crude attempts to persuade Chinese officials that they are performing great exploits, when in fact they are doing a minimum of good owing to the unsatisfactory nature of Chinese methods, and at the same time to decry foreigners, who as a rule will be found to carry out measures of genuine utility without a blare of trumpets .-N. GERMAN FOREIGN OFFICE.

IMPORTANT CHANGES.

A series of important Ministerial and diplomatic changes is announced at Berlin. Tue most interesting of these is that Herr von Tschirsky, whose desire to change his occupation had long been whispered, is to go to Vienna as Ambassador, and will be replaced as Foreign Scoretary by Wilhelm von Schön, who, for the last couple of years, has represented the German Emperor at St. Petersburg. The new Minister is the son of a Rhenish factory owner, and is fifty-six years of ago. In | proved to 15 with buyers, and Watkins are 1870 he volunteered, and earning promotion to officer's rank during the war, remained in the service till 1877, when he passed over into placed at quotations.

diplomacy, in which he has done service in Madrid, Athens, Berne, The Hague, Paris, and Copenhagen. There was a break in his diplomatic career from 1886 till 1889, when he occupied the post of Chief Court Marshal to King Edward's brother, Duke Alfred of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. He is believed to be a very wealthy man. It remains to be seen whether he possesses that Parliamentary oratory in which his predecessor was so conspicuously lacking. Herr von Tschirsky was in the Reichstag a man of few words, and those rarely audible, and a sense of the disadvantage under which he laboured in this respect is said to have been the principal factor in inducing him to seek other State employment.

The present Ambassador at Vienna, Conn von Wedel, becomes Statthalter of Alsace-Lorraine, in place of Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg, whom weight of years is forcing into retirement.

It is known that the relations between the German Chancellor and Herr von Techiraky. were not altogether untroubled, and that it for this reason that Kaiser Wilhelm personally endeavoured to show his friendly feeling for the latter by giving him the post of Vienua Ambassador.

JOINT STOCK SHARES.

Messre. Version & Smyth say in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, 15th November, 1907.—The market has ruled unsettled during the week, with intervals of spasmodic activity, but rates have in most cases ruled fairly steady, and in some show improvements, owing to the continuation of a small investing demand. Some of the smaller stocks have been in most request, and it is in the those that the chief business of the week has resulted. Exchange on London

2/01 T.T. on Shanghai 741 T.T. Banks-Hongkong and Shanghais, notwith. standing a fall in the London rate to £73 (old) and £71 (new), have ruled furly steady, and small sales have been made at $660 (old) and $655 (new), the latter closing with more sellers than the former. Nationals remain unchanged and without business.

MIRINE INSURANCES. - With the exception Morta Chinese, which have improved to Tla. 5, we have no business or changes to report ander this heading. . .

FIRE INSURANCES, -With a continued demand at $310, after small sales at $3124 and no sellers, the rate has improved to $315, at which several sales have been effected, the market closing steady at $315. Chiuns have also improved to 88 after cales at 87t, closing at the SHIPPING -Hongkong, Canton and Macaos have continued in demand, and a fair business has been put through at 301, and reported small sales at 301, closing at 301 with buyers. Shells have declined in London to 42/6. Other stocks under this heading remain unchanged and REFINERIES.—Chius Sugare continue out of favour at 103 with sellers, a small demand however exists at 100. Luzons have declined to 15 with sallers.

MINING-Raubs have ruled neglected and there are no buyers over 81, and no business to approximately 1700. This figure, as stated in the Municipal Minutes of a few weeks ago, had been reduced to 1511 for the month of Septem. Shanghai to 330.

DOCKS, WHARVES AND GOD WNS .- HORGkong and Whampos Docks, with shares on offer and no buyers, have declined to 99 with sellers, and it is probable that a lower rate would be accepted. Kowloon Wharves have been placed in very small lots at 67, the market closing fairly steady at that rate. New Amy Dooks are obtainable at 10t, but we have no business to report. Shanghai Docks are easier at Tis. 73, and Hongkew Wharves at 202; the latter, however, with buyers in Shaughai. LANDS, HOTELS AND BUILDINGS-With the sales of Humphrey s. at 105, we have nothing to report under this heading. The market for the former closes quie', and for the latter steady

COTTON MILLS. - The Shanghai market reports E was at 53, and Laou Kung Mows at Hongkongs are quoted at 1 sillers.

MISCILLAN EOUS. - China Borneos have been the medium of a fair business at 101 and 101, closing with buyers at the latter rate, and possibly at a trifle higher. Electrica have imenquired for at 24 also Powells at 54. Coments. China Providents, and China Lights have been

CHINESE COTTON INDUSTRY.

LATEST ESTIMATES OF PRODUCTION.

The British Acting Commercial Attache at Poking states that 'there are now twenty-seven cotton spinning power mills in China, to which may be added the mill in Hongkong, also engaged in turning out yarn for the China market. The mills, originally started in Shanghai, which at present boasts of twelve, had many obstacles to contend with at the start, and for several years after, such as labour difficulties, cotton cornerning, and cotton watering : losses were sustained, and in several cases capital had to be written down. The years 1903 and 1904 were the worst since 1900, but 1905 and 1906 were good average years: cotton was cheaper and the mills were kept running night and day. Chinese cotton is whiter than Indian, and the product of the Shanghai mill is superior in colour and cleanness to either Japanese or Indian yarn, but being shorter in staple it is not so strong nor is it so well reeled, owing to the low class of labour employed in this department. The number of spindles in these twenty: eight mills is approximately 750,000, and the production per spindle working day and night is from 11 to 13 oz, according to counts. With 12 oz. as the average, these 750,000 spindles are capable of a daily output of 552,5000 lbs, and the annual output would be 180,000,000 lb. of yarn, a quantity equal to more than half the foreign import. What becomes of the yarn? The great bulk of it finds its way into the country round Shanghai and becomes the warp of Chinese cloth weven on hand looms, which is exported in enormous quantities under the name of nankeens to Northern Cains, but especially Manchuria, principally by junk. Were we to assume that all the foreign yarn imported into China as well as the product of the mills in China and Hongkong is mannfactured into cloth with native spun weftwhich is not the case—the weight of the latter might approximately be estimated at 518,829,600 Sr. Peren's Church. Queen's Road, West .- Ib., or 231,620 tons, and if to this be added the export from China in 1906 of 769,542 piculs, or 45,806 tony, and the large but unknown quantity used for wadding, it is not unlikely that the production of cotton in China would approximate, if not exceed, the estimate of 300,000 tons mentioned in the report for 1905. There was an import of raw cotton into China in 1906 of 6,047,600 lb., against 12,078,667 lb. in 1905,"

AN ADVENTUROUS LIFE

A chequered life, full of adventure, ended on Sunday, Sept. 29, in the death, at the age of seventy-five of Major Robert Adeane Barlow, in the Poor Law Infirmary at Enfield. He made forty ocean voyages, passed through innumerable military bazards, was one of the most enthusiastic champions of the Tichborus claimant, afterwards obtained employment in the Abyssinian Army, and was finally captured by followers of the Mahdi and imprisoned in Egypt, his subs quent treatment being the subject of questions raised in the House of Commons. In some biographical notes, Major Barlow describes himself as the son of Col Barlow, adjutant general, Madras Cav. I was born at Bristol in 1832, and was educated at Rugby School under Dr. Arnold, where be attained first class in classice, bistory, modern languages, and divinity. While at Rugby he was "fag" to the famous Capt. Hodson of Indian Muliny fame, and kept his " Horace as a treasured memorial. Major Barlow passe on to St. John's Cambridge, where the late vicar of Enfield, Prebendary Hodson, brother and Diographer of Capt. Hodson, was then Fellow of Trinity. At school or university Major Barlow was contemporary to the late Lord Derby, Lord Portsmouth, M. Waddington Sir R. Temple, and Sir W. Harcourt. Sent out to Pernambuco, Bahia, Rio Janeiro, and the mining district of St. John del Ray, to acquire knowledge of the language and trade of these countries, he returned to England and received his first commission in August 1852 in the 2nd Lanca-bire Light Inf. Militia. Afterwards returning to Brazil, he was appoint d, in 1857. manager for the house of W. H. Hornby and Co. The fathers of our Saxon folk (Sires of our blood and bone) Set up their thorpes and homesteads, Self-centred and alone.

Nor braggart in their pride. But the freeman's badge was the spear in hand And the war-sword at his side; And when the arrow-splinter came To muster great and small,

Was weakling, priest, or thrall. When we waged the War of a Hundred Years Or marched to Flodden fray. Small need was there for time or toil

To marshal our array. Each y-oman's chimuey held its bow. Each manor, jack spear. And every churl could handle steel To guard his goods and gear.

Now pities gather them goods and gold With ships on every sea, And the Guilds of Craft wax fat and proud And every hind is free; And no man bears a weaponed belt

Acouste, whose presence is som what surprising, really plays the part of a preservative and protects the joss-sticks well against the attacks of rate, mice, and other pests. As for the camphor, it is of use from more than one point of view; its odour is agreeable and its combustion easy; it enables the jous-stick to burn without going out, and appears to replace the salt peter used in the so-called Armenian papers.

ON THE OTHER FOOT.

JAPAN'S ANTI-CHINESE POLICY.

Apparently, says the Boston Transcript, this is an era of racial proscription, the race that has resenting the intrusion of the race that wan's. Not only have the Americans and Canadians of the Pacific North-west expelled Asiatics but the Japanese have driven out Japanese city of 6,000 inhabitants. These has a paculiar regulation by which a province take. may by its local authorities expel aliens who are or have become "undesirable." This suggests that Japan may pause to reflect that there is after all a certain analogy between the position of the Chinece in Kagoshima and that of the Japanese in-San Francisco. Japan has found it useful to keep a certain degree of "duallism" in reserve against emergencies. The truth is that the man who cuts wages is popular nowhere. His advent and the resistance of those whose bread and butter he threatens have more than once disturbed the harmony of nations whose Governments were perfectly willing to be good neighbours. It is not many years since the Italian laborers employed at Aigues Mortes in the south of France were mobbed and massacred by Frenchmen whose employment they had prevented. Many of the Italians were murdered; the Italian Government demanded and obtained reparation and there, with the punishment of some of the assailants, the "incident" ended. These instances of racial antipathy, together with the exclusion of Hindus from Australia, are commended to those London editors who in their efforts to explain the Vancouver rioting have evolved ther theory that Americans did it, and incited the British Columbiana to mob the subjects of King Edward's friend and ally, the Mikado.

CONFESSION OF A PHYSICIAN.

A man comes to us complaining of a trifling pain in his chest, but also sleepless, without appetite, k osing weight, too wenk to work,-all because the trifling pain happens to be in the spot where he has been told l' heart is. examine his heart, find it wholly normal, tell him so with all the emphasis I an express, and add that he couldn't die if he tried, will probably live to be a hundred, and that meantime he must go to work and put the idea of heart trouble out of his head once for all. In three days that man will be a changed being. You will hardly recognize him as the same. He believed me because he heard me tell the patient justahead of him that he had heart trouble, and could never hope to work again. Believing me, he began to sleep and eat, to work, to love life, and to throw from his shoul ers the millstone of fear that had been weighing him down.

Every candid physician knows that fear causes some disorders, that self absorption causes others, that sin and halfsmothered remorse causes still others. But he is afraid to admit the full consequences of these truths. Because he knows that cancer, typhoid meningitie, are not caused by fear or by sin, because he fears to admit that the kind Mind Curists have a piece of real truth in their possession, he blinds himself to this whole realm of fact. He calls it rubbish or sentimentality or superstition or simple ignorance, but he has to recognize it more or less in his practice, the gradgingly.

The enormous influence of spiritual environment, of friendship, of happiness, of beauty, of success, of religion, is grievously, ludiorously underestimated by most physicians, nurses, and hospital superintendents. There are diseases that cannot be cured without friendship; patients that never will get well unless you can get them to make a success of something or to conquer their own self-absorption by self devotion, losing their life to find it.-Richard C. Cabot, M.D., in Christian Register.

to light at Moscow for the details of which many may be found to youch. During the war two travellers long, resident in the Orient. with Japan a Russian officer took up temporary quarters at Liao-yang with his wife and daughter. The retreat of the troops was followed by a sudden raid by (hunchuses, who burned and sacked the officers' residences; In all countries where Buddhist worship is and in the panie the little girl became celebrated there is a great consumption of separated from her parents, and was captured joss-sticks. These ceremonial candles, whose by the bandits Shortly afterwards, however, uso corresponds very nearly to that of the this same party of Chunchuses was defeated and took care of her. One soldier in particular, an affectionate fellow named Gritzke, watched over her with a most motherly care, and when back to Moscow wth him. Recovering from unknown; those who carry it on being chosen | ment, but failing to do so was reduced to a pitiful state of destitution. Never for one moment, though did he think of abandoning the child he had taken under his protection, and the money he gained by begging he spent on her equally with himself; she sometimes A squared strip-of-bamboo, of varying long h | accompanying him in the streets, where they both became familiar figures. At last want of food and fatigue began to tell/on Gritzko, and little while ago he died, leaving the little girl face to face with starvation.

Now comes the remarkable part of the story. Yesterday morning a smart carwhich an Army officer slighted, holding out The composition of the odoriferous powders his hand to a sist a lady who was with him darted forward with a request for alms, and the lady opened her purse to take out a coin. While doing so, however, something about the child attracted her attention, and looking into her face closely, she gave a joyful cry and clasped her in I er arms. For the officer and his wife from whom the child had begged were her own mother and father, who had always believed that she had been murdered by the Chunchoses.

A large crowd witnessed the strange reunion, and when the delighted father and mother assisted their daughter into their carriage and drove her away to their home, there was a great demonstration of sympathy.

GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK.

Some years ago a favourite song told the story of a grandfuther's clock . . . . how it regularly did its duty for nine'y years long; during the life-time of its owner, until, when the latter died, to stopped in sympath and refused to go again.

All of us possess such a clock. It is true it Kagoshima gangs of Chinese coolies employed | does not stand on the stairs, but it ticks behind on the Government railroads.
